Please Complete This Short Survey:

When people were presenting properties, was their information enough for you to at least think that you or a client might have an interest? If not, what types of info would be helpful?

Were you generally able to follow the flow of conversations during the meeting? What areas were unclear?

Do you feel you learned a bit about the differences of "Equity Marketing" versus other means of marketing real estate?

Did you feel others in the room, by their questions or comments, were trying to help you market/sell your property?

Would you like to talk to one of the more experienced members, separately to learn how to develop more Equity Marketing skills?

Were there things about the meeting organization and pace, communications among participants, or other areas which could be changed? Please describe.
